PEOPLE WHO MIX THEIR OWN

Paint think they get a better article than they can buy ready to use. This used to be true

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS

were made. It's not true now. The Sherwin-Williams Paint is made of the best known painting materials. The materials are used in exact proportions. We don't guess at the amount of each, as persons who mix their own do. We carefully measure and weigh everything there is in the mixing. Where they use a stick, we use powerful machinery. We get the liquids and pigments thoroughly combined—which is very necessary. They can only half mix them.

The grinding which is most important of all, they don't get at all. We use mills that grind fine as flour. This is where we get the greater covering capacity and spreading qualities.

Take any way you like and we can beat the man who mixes his own. The advantages are all on our own side. Correct methods, special machinery, skilled workmen and good materials give to our paint its exceptional value.

Ustilagine

There are several manufacturers, and various qualities of FORMALIN; and as it is going to largely replace Blue Stone for the cure of Smut we have taken extra pains in securing the strongest and best that can be had, believing that the best is none too good for such an important purpose.

FORMALIN is so readily mixed with water that it gives dishonest persons opportunities of selling it in a diluted form, for the sake of immediate gain. In order to insure the public against a spurious article and ourselves against imitations we have decided to place what we sell on the market under the name of USTILAGINE, 75c per lb.

BUDGET STATEMENT BY MR. ROSS.

must come to Edmonton. There was no town north of it, and he himself was looking for a great boom in Edmonton. He was not suggesting that members should rush off to buy town lots there, but he did think there was a boom coming for that part next year.

MAIN ROADS AND APPROACHES TO BRIDGES.

This was a vote of $30,000, the main items of which Mr. Ross said would be explained in committee when as definite information would be given as to what was possible for the department to give.

A FAIR ALLOTMENT.

Mr. Ross went on to make some general remarks with regard to the expenditure for public works. He said members must not forget in considering the whole question that although the estimate was in bulk, yet the greater portion of that expenditure was practically fixed. Although the sum for clearing and grading and improving roads, and the sum for the construction of bridges, were not estimated in detail yet the destination of the most of that money was practically decided on. It was as large a sum as was ever appropriated in the main estimates for the Public Works Department; and he might say that it would be expended along the same lines as before—that was to say it would be expended as far as possible in such a way that the whole of the Territories might have share of the benefits. Under the old system in which a certain sum was allotted to every town for his particular district, the service for roads, bridges, well-boring and so on had to be provided for out of that sum. They were now provided for out of the general vote, but the Government were desirous that no district should be neglected and that all should share to as large an extent as possible in the benefits of the general expenditure. After a reference to the expenditure on the destruction of wolves and noxious weeds, the Minister said he would make an observation or two as to the way in which the Government in the past had dealt with the great natural subdivisions of the country. He did not for a moment wish to try and draw any imaginary or arbitrary lines in this country. Such lines had been drawn too often in the past. They had talked too much about Alberta and Saskatchewan and West Assiniboia and East Assiniboia. They should not forget that after all it was one territory, but at the same time there were certain natural divisions for public works purposes. For instance, Northern Alberta had certain characteristics which made it decidedly different from Southern Alberta. He would run over the figures to see how the various districts had fared; and he thought it would be seen, compared with the old method of division, that they had not gone far astray in the new method as far as an equal division of the money for public works purposes was concerned. They believed that although there were portions of the country which required great and important improvements, yet there was no part of the country that did not require a large amount of improvement. On looking over the figures for the last two years they would find that the sum for public improvements was divided as follows:

Northern Alberta.....	$36,000
Southern Alberta.....	49,000
West Assiniboia.....	39,000
East Assiniboia.....	51,000
Saskatchewan.....	33,000

He might say that they had extraordinary conditions to deal with in Alberta last year. He assured the House that they had been careful that no one portion of the country should suffer because large expenditures were needed in some other parts of the country. They had endeavored to undertake a different class of public work in the country to what had been undertaken in the past. Instead of being pleased it was a pleasure to him when he was asked to make an expenditure of five or six thousand dollars for some large and substantial piece of work, and it was a greater pleasure to him when he found that there were sums available for that work. In cases of that kind there was something substantial to show for the money—it showed that something worth doing had been done. There was nothing so disappointing to the department as to have to deal with small matters which, however necessary they might be, yet did not reflect any credit upon anybody or anything when they were completed as there was so little to show for them, but of course if people needed them and appreciated them that was all that was required and they must all recognise that these smaller improvements were very good finds.

People would present their coyote skins to the inspector; the money would be all gone; they would say "There was so much money put in the Estimates, and we have a perfect right to be paid our bounty;" and next session they would have the members coming forward and saying that so much money should be put in the Estimates to pay those poor men who had killed wolves and could not get the bounty. Now they did not want to be placed in that position or in the position of the people of Montana a few minutes that such a vote as that would be utterly useless. This amount would have to be divided between twenty-five or thirty districts. There would be that number of areas in which they would have to have an inspector—it let him say thirty. What would this mean? It would mean a sum of $50 only for each district. That would mean 100 coyotes, less the amount for the inspector. He would submit that the expenditure of $50 in each district would be of little or no service; and he thought he could show that it would be of no service at all. He would be entitled to a sum of $50 only for each district. That would be presented to the inspector who would have to pay for but which, as he had just said, would be killed in any case; so that the bounty would be of no incentive as far as they were concerned. This would eat up the whole of the bounty. If they wanted to deal effectively with coyotes they would have to put up $15,000 or $25,000. It was useless to talk of exterminating coyotes with $1,000. The member for North Qu'Appelle said that 3,000 skins were brought into that town last year, so that North Qu'Appelle would require the whole of the bounty.
